PARTICIPATION IN DEPARTMENTAL ACTIVITIES

Students are actively involved in a wide range of activities of the department, both academic and administrative. Their participation is critical for the successful conductance of regular lectures and seminars, as well as occasional (but not infrequent) conferences, workshops and training programmes. The DUBS, a student-led organization, and The Botanica, a student-operated journal, are rare examples of such activities. Student involvement in departmental committees is invaluable for successful execution of the mandates of these committees.

And we do not forget to have fun! Both students and faculty participate in annual field trips (fun and learning), picnics and sport activities.
