Career Profile
My academic career after PhD began with a Fellowship at the Nehru Memorial Museum and Library(1989-1993) and was followed by Post Doctoral appointments at Yale University(1993-94), School of Oriental and African Studies, London,1994 and at the University of Amsterdam (1994-1997) .After returning to India I was Visiting Fellow at the V.V Giri National Labor Institute between 1998-2002 where I established the Integrated Labor History Research Programme and set up a fully digital and online Archive of Indian Labor, first of its kind in India. From 2002 February I was appointed as Associate Professor at the Department of History, University of Delhi. I have taught courses in Economic History of Modern India, History of Labour and Labouring Poor and Working Classes, National Movement and Strategies of Imperial Control in the M.A (Final) Year and "Slaves Coolies and `free `labor : A History of Servitude" in the M.A (previous) classes. I have also taught MPhil classes on Research Methods . I have supervised/and am currently supervising research of more than 20 MPhil and PhD students . I have had stints as Visiting Professor at Ecole Normale Supérieure(Cachan) (2008)and University of Goettingen (2010-11) and held the L.M Singhvi Senior Fellowship at University of Cambridge (2006) and Fellowship at International Research Centre on Work and Lifecycle in Global History Perspective, Humboldt University(2011). I have been involved in the establishment of the Association of Indian Labour Historians(AILH) and actively promoted international academic cooperation around issues of history of labor and Global History.
