Employability in Adult, Continuing Education & Extension

The University Grants Commission accepted ‘Extension’ as the third dimension of the University System. The first two dimensions are teaching and Research. It has its beginning since 1980, currently 83 Universities are engaged in providing teaching, research & Extension through the Department of Lifelong Learning & Extension, the new nomenclature adopted in XI Plan of the UGC.

Initially the Department started Post M.A. Diploma course in Adult, Continuing Education. In course of time, M.A. in Adult, Continuing Education and M.A. in Andragogy were experimented at the Post Graduate level. The UGC also incorporate Adult, Continuing Education as one of the subjects to provide National Eligibility Test as a new discipline, the question of employability by the Experts and the professionals is highly appreciated. The question is relevant in current scenario.

The Universities having Adult, Continuing Education offers teaching and research opportunity as in the case of other disciplines. No university has introduced this course at undergraduate level so far.

The employment opportunities of the course is available at the national and international level organization, like Jan Shikhan Sansthan, voluntary organizations, District and State Institute of Education & Training and the NCERT are some of the key organizations.

Saakshar Bharat 2012 and several and State Governments provide opportunities for the evaluation and consultancy services.

The major areas/institutions where the students can seek employment are:

1. Teaching
2. Research, Institutions
3. Evaluation agencies /organization
4. Consultancy services
5. Governmental and Non-governmental organization
6. Industries and corporate sectors.

The students of the Departments are employed in MHRD. Some of them are engaged in successful running their own enterprises.

Notes:

1. Permission to appear in the Entrance Exam does not in any way commit the University to recognize a candidate’s eligibility for admission. The eligibility will be decided as per procedures prescribed by the University in this regard.

2. Candidates seeking admission to the programme on the basis of a Bachelor’s degree should have passed the Bachelor’s degree examination under the 10+2+3+ or 11+2+2+ or 10+2+2+1 pattern of education.

3. A candidate whose result of the last qualifying examination is awaited will be allowed to appear in the Entrance Exam on submitting a certificate from the institution to that effect. In case the candidate is admitted to the programme on provisional basis, the admission will be cancelled if the result is not communicated by August 31, 2014 (or as per the date set by the University) or if the candidate fails to meet the minimum eligibility criteria on the basis of his/her result.

M.A. Admission-cum-Scholarship Test/ Entrance Exam: 28 June, 2014 at 10 a.m.

There will be two types of question papers for the admission-cum-scholarship test termed as Option A and Option B. Candidates are free to choose any one option. The question paper under Option A is more suitable for candidates who have studied Economics/Commerce at the undergraduate level, and the question paper under Option B is more suitable for candidates who have studied Mathematics, Statistics, Physics or any of the other courses mentioned under eligibility conditions above at the undergraduate level. However, as stated earlier, the candidates are free to choose any one of the two available options. Exams for both options will be held simultaneously. Each will be of three hours duration and carry 100 marks.

Please note that every candidate must indicate on the application form their choice of option (A or B) for the entrance exam. The option exercised (at the time of submitting the application form) will be deemed final and the candidate will get a question paper for that option only.

Option A

Candidates are expected to be familiar with the material contained in the current B.A.(Honours) Economics programme of the University of Delhi. The Entrance Examination will test the candidates’ ability to understand and apply concepts in four basic areas in Economics: (a) microeconomic theory, (b) macro economic theory, (c) mathematical techniques used by economists, and (d) probability and statistics. Apart from these, some general questions testing the reasoning and quantitative ability of the students may also be asked. For more details about the nature of the examination, please see the description of Option A given below.
A list of indicative, but not exhaustive, references that may be used to prepare for the examination are:

Mankiw, N.G., Macroeconomics, Macmillan

Option B

Candidates choosing Option B are expected to be prepared in Mathematics and Statistics at a level indicated by the following references:

Bartle, R.G., The Elements of Real Analysis, Wiley

Feller, W., An Introduction to Probability Theory and its Applications, Wiley

Description of Option A

Option A will consist of multiple-choice questions only. It will comprise 40 multiple-choice questions of 2 marks each (with a penalty of $-2/3$ for a wrong answer), and 20 multiple-choice questions of 1 mark each (with a penalty of $-1/3$ for a wrong answer). The correct choices must be entered on the bubble sheet provided for the purpose, and not on the question paper.
The multiple-choice questions are designed to test rigorously the ability to apply concepts and techniques, rather than have a mere ‘theoretical’ familiarity with them. Space will be provided in the question paper for the necessary rough work. Because the bubble sheet will be checked by a machine, it is very important that:

- only one bubble be shaded against each question number
- the chosen bubble be completely shaded
- HB pencil be used for the shading
- if you decide to change your choice, completely erase the previously shaded bubble

Candidates must bring their own pencils, erasers, sharpeners etc., as well as simple (non-programmable, non-alpha-numeric memory) calculators.

Description of Option B

The option B question paper will have two parts. Part I will comprise multiple-choice questions with negative marking for an incorrect answer. Part II will comprise longer questions.

For the benefit of the candidates the entrance test papers for the year 2013 are available on our web page: http://www.econdse.org. No queries on the test paper will be entertained.
