

Winter School: Environmental Studies Internship Programme 2026

Experiential Learning and Future-Oriented Sustainability Training

The Department of Environmental Studies, University of Delhi, in collaboration with the Delhi School of Climate Change and Sustainability (Institution of Eminence), organized the Winter School Environmental Studies Internship Programme from 2 January to 30 January 2026.

Designed as an intensive academic engagement, the programme provided students with a structured and immersive learning experience, combining conceptual understanding with practical exposure to contemporary environmental challenges. All faculty members participated in these efforts and trained the selected Master/Undergraduate/Ph.D. students from different University of India.

The Winter School brought together participants for focused engagement on:

- climate change and sustainability transitions
- environmental governance and policy processes
- interdisciplinary research approaches
- sustainability pathways aligned with national priorities such as Viksit Bharat @ 2047

Through expert interactions, collaborative learning, and applied discussions, students were encouraged to critically engage with environmental issues and develop solution-oriented perspectives.

This initiative reflects the Department's commitment to strengthening student capacity in sustainability, research, and policy engagement, preparing learners to respond effectively to emerging environmental challenges.
