History of India – VII: 1600 – 1750s	4	3	1	0	Class XII	Should have studies History of India I – VI

Learning Objectives

The course draws students into a discussion of the multiple historiographical narratives available for the history of India in the period between the early seventeenth and the mid-eighteenth centuries. It intends to familiarise them with challenges that the Mughal Empire faced in the process of territorial expansion and regional contestations. Students also get to explore state sponsored art and architecture as a visual expression of authority. They would also be introduced to the nature of the pre-colonial agrarian society as well as Indian participation in the international trade. In addition, the course aims to introduce students to contrasting religious ideologies of the times and their effect on the contemporary political dispensation.

Learning outcomes

On completion of this course, the students shall be able to:

- Critically evaluate the gamut of non-Persian contemporaneous literature available in the form of personal accounts and vernacular tradition.
- Describe the major social, economic, political and cultural developments of the times
- Explain the intellectual ferment of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries and its relation to state policies.
- Discern the larger motives behind the Imperial patronage of art and architecture

- Understand the complexities of medieval Indian rural society and appreciate the resilience of the mercantile communities in furthering the maritime trade of India with long term economic implications.

Learning Objectives

This paper introduces students to broad aspects of formation of identities and the manner in which these identities unfolded themselves during the course of the Indian freedom struggle. It provides an overview of socio-economic and political trends in colonial India from the latter half of the 19th century. The paper critically analyses the various trends in the national liberation movement and other aspects of politics which were foundational for the modern Indian state. The aim is to develop interdisciplinary analytical skills at the undergraduate level.

Learning outcomes

After successful completion of the course, the students will be able to:

- Identify how community, caste, and national identity developed in the late 19th, and early 20th centuries.
- Outline the social and economic facets of colonial India and their influence on the national movement.
- Explain the various trends of anti-colonial struggles in colonial India.
- Analyse the complex developments leading to partition and independence.
- Discuss the key debates on the making of the Indian Constitution, and need for socio- economic restructuring after independence

History of Modern Europe – II	4	3	1	0	Class XII	Should have studies History of India I – VI

Learning Objectives

This paper offers a historical overview of the development of nationalities and nation-states in the 19th and 20th centuries. Among the various case studies discussed, the paper traces the build-up to a revolution in the disintegrating Russian empire. It also introduces students to the concept of imperialism. In this light, the paper discusses the varied historical writings on World War One and on the nature of developments during the inter-war period. It familiarises students with the intellectual and art movements that were linked to the changes in the socio-economic and political milieu of 19th and early 20th century Europe.

Learning outcomes

Upon completion of this course the student shall be able to:

- Trace varieties of nationalists and the processes by which new nation-states were carved out.
- Discuss the peculiarities of the disintegration of large empires and remaking of Europe's map.
- Deliberate on the meaning of imperialism and the manifestations of imperialist rivalry and expansion in the 19th and early 20th century.
- Analyse the conflict between radical and conservative forces, and the gradual consolidation of ultra-nationalist and authoritarian regimes in Europe.
- Contextualise major currents in the intellectual sphere and arts.

Essential/recommended readings

Unit I: At the end of this rubric the student will be expected to comprehend the important theories on nationalism, which are crucial for recognising the nature of different nationalist aspirations that emerged in nineteenth century Europe. The student would also be able to demonstrate an understanding of the complex political and economic interplay associated with the unification of Germany and Italy. Students will be able to trace these complexities into the politics of state formation post unification. (Teaching time: 12 hours Approx.)

Unit-II: At the end of this rubric the student will be familiar with the key theories on imperialism which are important for understanding the outbreak of the World Wars and the complex post-War scenarios. The student will also be familiarized with a range of historiographical issues reflected in historical analyses of the First World War. The student will also learn of how revolutionary possibilities emerged during the First World War. In this regard, the economic, social and political issues that led to the fall of the Tsarist regime in Russia and emergence of a socialist state by October 1917 will be explained. (Teaching time: 12 hours Approx.)

		Lecture	Tutorial	Practical/ Practice
Gender in Indian History, c.1500-1950	4	3	1	0	Class XII

Learning Objectives

The module will delineate gendered constructs in Early Modern and Modern India. It contextualizes the participation and contribution of women in courtly culture and domestic spaces. While examining questions and debates on law, education, social differentiation and partition, it questions patriarchy and the nuances of historical gender dynamics. The course tries to historicize and analyse institutions of family and norms of manhood. The course also tries to give students a critical overview of the tangled paradigms that labels women as victims and agents, and objects and subjects.

Learning outcomes

Upon completion of this course the student shall be able to:

- Critically assess popularly held notions about women in Islamic empires.
- Examine critical issues of gender and power in the context of Early Modern and Modern Indian history.
- Examine the issues around the 'women's question' in the modern period of Indian history.
- Discuss issues of gender in the context of partition and the post-partition period of the construction of the independent state.

SYLLABUS OF DSE – 1

Unit I: Women in Early Modern India: 1500 to 1750's

Rethinking Courtly and Domestic Spaces: Power, Household and Family
Constructing Gender Identities: Behaviour and Practices

Unit II: Women, Colonialism and Modernity: 1750's to 1950's

The Women's Question: Social Reform, Law and Education
Women, Work and Social Differentiation
Gender and Print Culture

Unit III: Partition and Women: Family, Community and State

Practical component (if any) - NILEssential/recommended readings*Unit I: Women in Early Modern India: 1500 to 1750's

The learning outcome of this unit is to question gender stereotypes about women in Early Modern India. It provides for a more contextual and nuanced understanding of how historical and gendered constructions of spaces, institutions and norms helped create sensibilities in Early Modern India. Fundamentals of Historical Methodology DSE – No.#	4	3	1	-	NA	NA

Learning Objectives

This course aims to prepare the students with elementary techniques of conducting historical research within the larger social science framework. It does so by familiarising them with the theoretical frameworks and procedures/techniques of research that historians deploy in order to construct a meaningful narrative about the past. The course proceeds to equip students with the preliminary research steps like identifying research questions, theoretical context, survey of the literature; locating reliable sources; framing a research paper, etc.; as well acquainting them with research ethics.

Learning Outcomes

Having finished the course, the students would have learnt:

- The distinctiveness of historical research
- The issues and problems in writing history
- How to carefully choose interpretative techniques when reading sources
- How to choose a historical "field" and within that field a specific research question
- The skills and protocols related to academic writing and research in history
- The essentials of research ethics.

SYLLABUS OF DSE

Unit I: Distinctiveness of historical inquiry

1. The nature of history
2. The scope of historical research

Unit II: Issues and problems in historical research

1. Facts and inference
2. Explanation and historical research
3. Objectivity and history writing
4. History writing and relations of power

Unit III: Sources and interpretation

1. Types of historical sources: their use and limitations
2. Analytical frames in historical research
3. Varieties of approaches to sources and methods

Unit IV: Conducting historical research

1. Selecting a topic and preliminary work
2. Protocols of academic writing and avoiding plagiarism

Practical component (if any) - NIL

Essential/recommended readings:

Unit I: This introductory Unit seeks to enable students to i) distinguish the historical from the past, memory and myth; ii) comprehend the relationship of history with social science theories and concepts; iii) distinguish aspects of history (social, political, economic, religious, cultural, ecological). DISCIPLINE SPECIFIC CORE COURSE (DSE-3) – : Select Themes in the History of Education in India

CREDIT DISTRIBUTION, ELIGIBILITY AND PRE-REQUISITES OF THE COURSE

Course title & Code	Credits	Credit distribution of the course			Eligibility criteria	Pre-requisite of the course (if any)
		Lecture	Tutorial	Practical/ Practice
Select Themes in the History of Education in India	4	3	1	0

[Eligibility criteria] are the minimum requirement of academic level for opting for the course, such as Class XII pass or Class XII pass with Mathematics as one of the papers in Class XII and so on.

Pre-requisite of a course is the prior knowledge or skill which are primarily required to be acquired before joining the course. For example, the pre-requisite for studying 'Perspectives on Public Administration' course (offered in the VIth Semester) is that he/she should have studied 'Public Administration in India' (offered in the 1st Semester).

Learning Objectives

This course will provide students with a critical understanding of different historical traditions of education in India from ancient to colonial periods and their socio-political aspects. It is a thematic course, which seeks to focus on various aspects of formal and informal systems of education in India from the earliest times to the modern period. The course takes up some aspects of the rich and varied epistemological traditions, practices and pedagogies that emerged, evolved, adopted or adapted in the Indian subcontinent.

Learning outcomes

- The course will enhance learners' comprehension of the complex historical trajectories of the expansion as well as limitations of educational opportunities in India;
- It will allow them to understand the diverse manner in which production and reproduction of knowledge took place through formal and informal socio-cultural networks.
- It will make them aware about the rich educational legacy of India and enable them to make a critical appraisal of the same.
- The course will create a greater understanding of the linkage between education and power, the role of the state, the elite and different social categories in deciding what construes as 'knowledge', its transmission, the strategies of inclusion and exclusion in knowledge dissemination in different regions and in varied chronological frameworks.

- It will provide them historical insights to engage with the issues of contemporary education.

SYLLABUS OF DSE-3

Unit 1. Knowledge Traditions, Pedagogy and Centres of Learning in Ancient India.

Unit 2. Educational Institutions and Knowledge Formation in India from 11th to 18th century.

Unit 3. History of Education during Colonial Period.

Unit 4. Educational Discourse of Freedom Struggle.

Practical component (if any) - NIL

Essential/recommended readings

Unit 1. This unit will trace the emergence of diverse knowledge traditions and the methods adopted for their transmission and dissemination. Students will be introduced to the key epistemological concepts and the philosophical traditions, and how what was construed as knowledge and education was constantly being debated, contested and modified. The unit will explore the varied pedagogic practices prevalent in ancient India - from the early Vedic śākhās to centres of learnings like Taxila and Nalanda; along with others. This unit will also familiarise the students with diverse knowledge systems from the Vedic and post-Vedic corpus, Buddhist and Jain scriptures, Carvaka and Tantric philosophy, early numerical systems, along with practices and traditions of healing, such as Ayurveda and Yoga. Knowledge traditions, concepts and educational practices will be critically interpreted in the context of their linkages with socio-political and religious structures of power and social stratifications and the question of their accessibility to caste, gender and other marginalised categories. (eleven hours)

Unit 2. This unit engages with different kinds of institutional, communitarian and individual arrangements of learning and structures of patronage that existed in India from 11th to 18th century. It explores how these arrangements promoted the development of different knowledge traditions in different trans-local linguistic idioms, such as Sanskrit, Arabic and Persian alongside with a wide range of literature and genres within regional languages and translation projects in different fields like Philosophy, Philology, Aesthetics, Astrology, Law, Mathematics, Physical Sciences, Medicine, Music, Hermeneutics, Grammar, Lexicography and Doxography. It will also deal with the questions of what were the forces of educational expansion as well as control over it, and what does this history of education tell us about social relations in the period under study. Unit 3. This unit deals with the emergence of colonial education and marginalization of indigenous education from 18th century onwards. How the two systems, indigenous and the colonial, impacted each other during this period. How this transition was shaped by the interventions of the colonial state, Christian missionaries, dominant castes and classes and the social reformers?? It will engage with how the nature of education during this period was shaped by the colonial state and dominant sections of Indian society, and what were the implications of this alliance in general and particularly for marginalised sections. It will also explore how the colonial education transformed language hierarchies and knowledge traditions in India. (twelve hours)

Learning Objectives

This paper offers a historical overview of Latin America. It traces major long-term continuities and changes in Latin America's socio-economic structures, cultural life and political formations from the 16th century to the mid-twentieth century. The paper closely examines colonial trade and rule, as well as anti-colonial resistance. It offers a critical analysis of the immediate years post-independence, and situates the specific positioning of Latin America in connected histories of a globalising world.

Learning outcomes

On completion of this course the student shall be able to

- Critique stereotypes on Latin America and outline major shifts in Latin American history.
- Explain elements of change and continuity in Latin American polities, economy, society and cultural milieu from the 16th to 20th centuries.
- Contextualise the impact of colonialism on Latin America.
- Explain social protest and anti-colonial resistance in Latin America, as well as practices of 'transculturation'.
- Discuss the dilemmas and contradictions emerging from the post-independence economic, social, political and cultural milieu.

Learning Objectives

This paper offers a historical overview of the consolidation of capitalist industrialization in the late nineteenth century, and its impact in terms of facilitating the age of 'new imperialism'. Among the key case studies discussed, the paper traces the build-up to a revolution in the disintegrating Russian empire. It details the formation of defensive alliances and power blocs, as well as contentious international issues that led up to First World War. The paper proceeds to discuss the crucial aspects of the post-War Peace Settlement, and the emergence of ultra-nationalist regimes prior to the Second World War. The course of the Second World War and important developments stemming from it are also highlighted in the paper.

Learning outcomes

Upon completion of this course the student shall be able to:

- Deliberate on the meaning of imperialism and the manifestations of imperialist rivalry and expansion in the 19th and early 20th century.
- Distinguish the varied impacts of the First World War as well as the outbreak of a revolution in the Russian Empire during the War.
- Analyse the conflict between radical and conservative forces, and the gradual consolidation of ultra-nationalist and authoritarian regimes in Europe between the World Wars.
- Delineate the reasons for the outbreak of the Second World War, and the course of the War.
- Analyse the key, immediate repercussions of the Second World War

Fundamentals of Historical Methodology DSE – No.#	4	3	1	-	NA	NA

Learning Objectives

This course aims to prepare the students with elementary techniques of conducting historical research within the larger social science framework. It does so by familiarising them with the theoretical frameworks and procedures/techniques of research that historians deploy in order to construct a meaningful narrative about the past. The course proceeds to equip students with the preliminary research steps like identifying research questions, theoretical context, survey of the literature; locating reliable sources; framing a research paper, etc.; as well acquainting them with research ethics.

Learning Outcomes

Having finished the course, the students would have learnt:

- The distinctiveness of historical research
- The issues and problems in writing history
- How to carefully choose interpretative techniques when reading sources
- How to choose a historical "field" and within that field a specific research question
- The skills and protocols related to academic writing and research in history
- The essentials of research ethics.

SYLLABUS OF DSE

Unit I: Distinctiveness of historical inquiry

3. The nature of history

4. The scope of historical research

Unit II: Issues and problems in historical research

5. Facts and inference
6. Explanation and historical research
7. Objectivity and history writing
8. History writing and relations of power

Unit III: Sources and interpretation

4. Types of historical sources: their use and limitations
5. Analytical frames in historical research
6. Varieties of approaches to sources and methods

Unit IV: Conducting historical research

3. Selecting a topic and preliminary work
4. Protocols of academic writing and avoiding plagiarism

Practical component (if any) - NIL

Essential/recommended readings:

Unit I: This introductory Unit seeks to enable students to i) distinguish the historical from the past, memory and myth; ii) comprehend the relationship of history with social science theories and concepts; iii) distinguish aspects of history (social, political, economic, religious, cultural, ecological). DISCIPLINE SPECIFIC ELECTIVE COURSE (DSE-3): Travel in History: Trade, Politics and Society

CREDIT DISTRIBUTION, ELIGIBILITY AND PRE-REQUISITES OF THE COURSE

Course title & Code	Credits	Credit distribution of the course			Eligibility criteria	Pre-requisite of the course (if any)
		Lecture	Tutorial	Practical/ Practice
Travel in History: Trade, Politics and Society	4	3	1	0

Learning Objectives

This paper shall provide an overview of the history of travel. It will acquaint students with the various genres, contexts and cultural literary traditions in which these travels were undertaken and written about. The course focusses on the transformative nature of travel especially the impact of industrialisation. The course will show the student how new technologies impacted the movement of people and their ability to record their experiences. Through a critical historical and literary study of a select list of travelogues, the course would introduce the students to the varied interests of travellers and their descriptions of local societies, economic practices and socio-cultural traditions. It will engage students with a series of problematics and issues arising from writings on cross cultural engagements and social stereotyping associated with European colonialism. This course will equip students to critically read travelogues and commentaries on travels.

Learning outcomes

After completing the course students will be able to:

- Describe and historically analyse various aspects of travel experience and writing.
- Analyse the varied and changing engagements of travellers in time.
- Develop the skills to analyse travelogues and critically evaluate cross cultural literature.
- Critically engage with the Eurocentric emphasis in travel narratives.
- Critically examine questions of colonialism, technology, race, language, gender and religion in travel narratives.

SYLLABUS OF DSE-3

Unit I: Writing Travel:

1. Writing Travel: Genre, Time and Place

2. Travel in History: Religion, Society and Economy

Unit II: Travel in the Modern Era

1. Industrialisation and a new travel culture: Railways and Photography
2. The Nineteenth and Twentieth centuries

Unit III: Travel, Texts and History (choose any 3 travellers, select at least 1 from each category)

Travel in the Pre-Modern World: [I] Huen tsang [ii] Marco Polo [iii] Christopher Columbus [iv] Varthema [v] Jan Huygen van Linschoten [vi] Guru Nanak

B. Travel in the Modern World: [I] Durgabati Das [ii] Cathanar Thomman Paremmakkal [iii] Rahul Sankrtyaya-na [iv] W. S. Caine [v] Samanth Subramanian [vi] R. L. Stevenson

Practical component (if any) - NIL

Essential/recommended readings

Unit I: This unit aims to familiarise the students with travel writing. They will read about the varied contexts in which travellers come to record their experiences. Students will be familiarised with how travelogues have been used to enabling cross cultural engagements, and in establishing certain cultural and social stereotypes. They shall learn to read travelogues as distinct texts that introduce the readers to layered visions of diverse communities and practices. (Teaching Time: 15 hours approx.)

Unit II: In this unit, students shall study about transformations in travel and travel writing. They shall read about the experience of travel through in a period shaped by Colonialism and the industrial revolution. The students will read about how the introduction of railways and new machines like the camera transformed the nature of travel. They will engage with these transformations alongside questions of race, gender, and culture in travel narratives. They will engage with how geography, culture, language, social practices, economic activity and religion have been conceptualised by different actors. (Teaching Time: 15 hours approx.)

GENERIC ELECTIVES (GE-3): History of Textiles

Credit distribution, Eligibility and Pre-requisites of the Course

Course title & Code	Credits	Credit distribution of the course			Eligibility criteria	Pre-requisite of the course
		Lecture	Tutorial	Practical/ Practice
History of Textiles	4	3	1	0

Learning Objectives

This course explores the ways in which textiles has been approached, appropriated and understood in Indian history and beyond. The patterns in which textiles have been situated in history, how they are made, what they are made of, where they are made, what use or function they serve, what they codify for different communities, rituals and events, their historical and economic significance, etc. will be our main focus. The multiple narratives embedded in textiles, especially the hand woven and handcrafted textiles, which go back millennia and which, through centuries, have linked India to the rest of the world will enable the students to dialogue with a great culture of textiles.

Learning outcomes

Students will also learn what textile can tell us about trade and commerce, empire, gender, sexuality, class, race, industry, revolution, nation-building, identity politics and globalization. We will aim simultaneously to see textile and material culture more generally, as playing a fundamental role in the shaping of our past.

Theory and Practical/ Field work/Hands-on-learning

Through the course students are expected to continuously interact with the textile sector through programmes built into the academic curriculum like field studies, internships, design projects, audio-visual projects and its cluster initiatives.
