PART-I

University of Delhi

Preface

The University of Delhi has traversed 100 years of glorious journey, covering both pre- and post-independence era, leaving many milestones on the way. To commemorate this achievement, the University had a year-long Centenary Celebrations, which was inaugurated by the Shri Jagdeep Dhankar, Hon'ble Vice President of India and the closing ceremony was graced by the Hon'ble Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi.

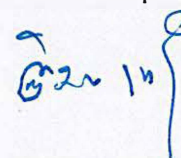

Several new initiatives were taken up during the Centennial year, some of which are elaborated in this Annual Report. The University also started few flagship programmes, such as B.Tech. in Computer Science Engineering, Electrical Engineering and Electronics & Communications Engineering; Five-year Integrated B.A. LL.B and B.B.A. LL.B programmes; M.A Hindu Studies, M.A. Korean, and M.A. Chinese among others.

Providing accessible and inclusive education is one of the thrust areas of the University. In furtherance of access to education, the University also commenced in Open Distance Learning mode six programmes, viz. MBA, Bachelor of Business Management (Financial investment analysis), Bachelor of Management Studies, Bachelor of Arts in Economics, Bachelor of Library and Information Sciences and Master of Library and Information sciences, in the School of Open Learning. Over and above the minimal fee charged from the students, the University has provided financial assistance to the students coming from economically weak families, instituted quota for single girl child as well as orphans.

Two section-8 companies, namely Udhmodya Foundation and University of Delhi Foundation, have been registered in order to promote innovation and resource generation respectively. It is expected to further build the research ecosystem along with the augmentation of the Patent Cell and the commencement of short term Certificate course on 'Patents'.

Significant initiatives have also been taken to promote research. The University, through the Institution of Eminence has disbursed crores of rupees to the faculty members for Faculty Research Projects (FRP). It has also established the system of awarding cash rewards to those who are able to publish research articles in Q1 and Q2 journals as per Scopus. As on date 36 faculty members have been disbursed 36 lakhs under FRP. Further, the University has taken steps to recognize and consider only publications in the Scopus indexed/ UGC Care Listed journals for the purpose of recruitment/ promotion/ faculty awards, with effect from 1st July 2024. Even for publication in this Annual Report, only publications in Scopus indexed/ UGC Care Listed journals/ Web of Science/ Pubmed (especially for the Faculty of Medical Sciences) have been included.

All these initiatives along with recruitment and promotions in mission mode, has taken the University to new heights which is evident from the fact that the University has been able to make a record jump of more than 100 positions in QS World Rankings in 2024. Similarly, the NIRF rank of the University has also improved from 13th to 11th in 2023. The full range of impact of these initiatives may take some time to be visible, but definitely the University is on the right track of its development. The Institutional Development Plan and Strategic Plan shall further ensure that it continues to do so.

DU Centenary Smart Village Project

The Thematic Committee for Institutional Social Responsibility (ISR), convened by Prof. Pankaj Arora, Dean Students' Welfare, assumed the responsibility for spearheading several social initiatives to mark the Centenary Year. As part of its Institutional Social Responsibility, the University adopted the Jaunti village community with the aim of developing it as a smart village, with special focus on education. Jaunti village is located in the Kanjhawla Sub Division in the North West District of Delhi and is 32 kms away from the North campus.

The University Smart Village team-initiated work in the month of March 2022. A medical camp, wherein the CDMO Dr Meenakshi and NSS volunteers, under the leadership of Prof. Mamta Sharma, Principal, Aditi Mahavidyalaya, helped in generating awareness about health. Several infrastructural development initiatives have also been undertaken with community participation, such as the repair and paint of the Panchayat Bhawan.

Centenary Valedictory Ceremony

Hon'ble Prime Minister of India, Sh. Narendra Modi visited the University on June 30, 2023 to mark the historic Valedictory Ceremony of the Centenary Celebrations of University of Delhi. It was a magnificent sight to witness the much-anticipated moment when the Hon'ble Prime Minister of India & Union Education Minister graced the occasion with their vivacious presence. The Hon'ble PM laid the foundation stones of 3 new buildings viz., Faculty of Technology, Delhi University Computer Centre & Academic Block with a total estimated cost of over ₹700 crores.

The event was also attended by notable DU alumni, eminent academicians, Heads, Deans, Principals and over 2000 plus newly recruited faculty members from various colleges of DU. It was a once in a lifetime opportunity for everyone to be a part of this extraordinary occasion.

The Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, Prof. Yogesh Singh, delivered the welcome address. He began his speech by greeting the Hon'ble Prime Minister of India, Shri Narendra Modi, the Minister of Education, Shri Dharmendra Pradhan and the ecstatic audience. He emphasized on the two ways which made the day even more special. He stated that the University of Delhi has completed 100 years and the Prime Minister of India, Shri Narendra Modi visited the university on this auspicious day. The twin occasions will forever be etched in the history of this University for all times to come. He extended his warm welcome and gratitude to the PM, whose courageous, benevolent and selfless persona has inspired and strengthened the country. He praised the PM for personifying the DU slogan "निष्ठा धृतिः सत्यम्" which stands for dedication, steadfastness, and truth – the three major attributes of the University of Delhi. He congratulated the Minister of Education, Shri Dharmendra Pradhan for the successful implementation of the mammoth and ground breaking NEP-2020 at the University of Delhi. He thanked the PM for his unflinching support to conduct the recruitment drive in mission mode. He recalled the constant contribution of the University of Delhi in nation building. Since the times of independence struggles, University of Delhi has been on the forefront by producing freedom fighters, scientists, doctors, bureaucrats and most importantly responsible citizens. The VC assured that University of Delhi is going to contribute to nation building tirelessly for all times to come. He emphasised on the role of the teachers in creating a Viksit Bharat by the year 2047 which is the mission of the Prime Minister and motivated the teachers in taking up this responsibility. Citing the extraordinary prowess of the teachers and the central role they play in building a strong nation, the VC said that the hope of the future lies with them. He ended his speech by extending his warm gratitude to the Hon'ble PM, Minister of Education, and the audience for being present on this glorious day.

Greeting the Minister of Education, Vice Chancellor, hundreds of eminent DU Alumni and newly recruited faculty members, the Hon'ble Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi shared his joy of visiting the University of Delhi. He stated that for youth, being a DU student is considered as a huge milestone. The PM said that coming to DU is equivalent to being a part of DU fests and the expressed his immense happiness in being a part of this festive season as DU celebrates its 100 years of existence in its Centenary Year. He congratulated the University of Delhi on completing 100 years and celebrating its Centenary Year at a time when Bharat is celebrating its Amrit Kaal. Recalling the glorious history of the University, the PM congratulated all the stakeholders of the university for being a part of this centennial moment.

Striking an immediate chord with the DU Alumni and students, the PM spoke on the beauty of university life and the little joys of campus life like scrolling with friends and colleagues. He talked about the famous recreational spots around North Campus like Kamla Nagar, Hudson Lane and Mukherjee Nagar; and the area of Satya Niketan in DU South Campus which are cherished by every DUite in their student days. While reflecting upon the motto of DU "निष्ठा धृतिः सत्यम्", the PM said that the motto serves as the guiding lamp for the students.

Taking his address forward, the PM said that it is only knowledge which is true bliss and true happiness and called knowledge as the essence of life. The PM evoked the golden past of Bharat, with its universities in Nalanda and Taxila as the guiding source of wisdom for the whole world. Ancient Bharat was prosperous and contributed vastly to world GDP until Bharat came under foreign rule which slowed down our progress. After Independence the Universities played a vital role in creating a resilient youth and he mentioned that DU has played a key role in this.

He reminisced about the history of University of Delhi, from consisting only 3 colleges in 1922 to having more than 90 colleges today 100 years later. The growth of DU is reflected in its gender ratio as well where the number of female students has increased exponentially over the years. He emphasized on the interconnection between the growth of a country and strong roots of its universities and other educational institutions and said that our next mission is to create a Viksit Bharat by 2047. Talking about the increasing influence of Bharat at the world stage, he mentioned that Indian values of democracy, equality and mutual respect are now becoming the humanistic parameters for the world at large. PM also mentioned how leading multinational companies are looking towards us as an investment haven owing to the recent policies of the Government of India.

The PM said that Indian teachers have created their own niche in the field of education and how Indian teachers are renowned all over the world. He drew light upon the new holistic idea of education introduced by NEP 2020 which makes the education student-centric and allows them to choose what they want to learn. At the same time, he spoke on the role of National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF) in keeping the quality of educational institutions intact and make improvements within the education sector. It is a result of these futuristic policies and implementation of NEP-2020 that has led to increase in reputation of Indian universities throughout the world. This reflects in the number of Indian universities being increased from 12 in the year 2014, to 45 in the QS World Rankings. Growing interest of youth in entrepreneurship has also played a great role in it with an increased number of over 1 lakh startups. The position of India has scaled up from 80 to 46 in the Global Innovation Index. The PM also spoke on the growing opportunities in the field of technology, AI, AR/ VR, Robotics as well as arts, heritage, culture and tourism. He informed the audience about the growing interest of foreigners to learn more about the legacy and rich culture of India, especially since its successful strategy to deal with covid crisis and help other nations as well along with India's presidency of G20 summit.

Valedictory Ceremony of Centenary Celebrations graced by the Hon'ble Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi

The Hon'ble Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi concluded his speech by motivating the teachers to inculcate the qualities and values which can make the students persistent citizens having the temperament of facing and resolving challenges. He emphasized on the need for the University of Delhi to create a roadmap to be a top-ranking university when it celebrates its 150 years completion, while at the same time keeping alive the essence of its rich and vibrant campus culture. Again, congratulating the entire University of Delhi upon completing 100 years, the PM expressed his strong belief that DU will continue achieving its high ideals in the future.

LIBRARY AND INFORMATION SCIENCE

Major Activities and Achievements

The Department of Library and Information Science instituted in 1946, is organized in the Faculty of Arts with the efforts of (late) Dr. S. R. Ranganathan, Prof. S. Dasgupta, and Sir Maurice Gwyer. For the first time in the country, a Library Science Department was constituted on par with other teaching departments at this University and recognized as an Associated Project of UNESCO. For a long time, this was the only Department in the country which, in addition to the B.L.I.Sc., degree, was providing education and research facilities at higher levels leading to the MLISc, MPhil, and PhD degrees.

The department ever since its inception continues to play its role of leadership in Library and Information Science education with the changing and complex needs of libraries and documentation centers in the country. The Department took concrete steps to introduce new areas of study in Information Science and Management, such as 'Computer and its Application in Libraries,' Information Storage and Retrieval,' and 'Library Systems Analysis & Statistical Methods' in its curriculum. The department revised its syllabi in the year 2004 both in BLISc & MLISc Programmes and further revised it in the year 2009 with more emphasis on Information and Communication Technology applications in Libraries in both BLISc. and MLISc. Programmes in each semester. The Department is the first to introduce a special paper on 'Information Literacy Applications in LIS' and exclusive paper on Marketing of LIS Products and Services and Management Consultancy' in MLISc Programme.

The Department is adequately equipped with state-of-the-art ICT infrastructure for students not only for classroom teaching but also for hands-on practicals. It is providing free Wi-Fi connectivity and email facilities for all the bonafide students of the Department. The Department provides facilities for Library, Hostel facilities for outside students, Medical facilities, Freeship and scholarships for meritorious students. Every year the Department organizes visits to reputed Libraries/Documentation Centres in Delhi and outside Delhi in which participation by BLISc students shall be compulsory.

PSYCHOLOGY

Brief History

The post-graduation curriculum (M.A. level) for Psychology was introduced in University of Delhi in the year 1957 under the Department of Philosophy and Psychology. The Department of Psychology as an independent department was then later established in 1964 under the headship of Late Prof. H.C. Ganguli.

The University of Delhi, to cope with the ever-expanding student population, evolved a concept of multi-campus system during the early seventies, resulting in the establishment of South Campus in 1973. One of the objectives for its establishment has been to avoid replication of the existing course and provide necessary diversity in the programmes offered by the University at both the campuses. Further, the Ph.D. and MPhil courses were also initiated in the mid 1980s.

The Department currently has two units, one at the North Campus and the other at the South Campus established in 1981. At the North Campus, the courses offered are M.A. Psychology and Ph.D, while at South Campus the course offered is M.A. in Applied Psychology.

Keeping this in view, several new interdisciplinary and applied science courses were started at the South Campus and the Psychology Department started the M.A. Applied Psychology Course at the South Campus. In its endeavour to widen the horizons of the Social Sciences, Applied Psychology Course was designed to train the professional psychologists to serve in hospitals, organizations, and counselling centres as well as the advertising and marketing research agencies.

In recognition of its achievements in teaching and research, the University Grants Commission (UGC) identified this Department as the Department of Special Assistance (DSA) in 1989. The two thrust areas identified are Cognitive Psychology and Applied Social Psychology. Two phases of the DSA Programme (10 Years) have been completed. Recently in 2015 UGC has recommended the Department for SAP (Special Assistance Programme). The Department of Psychology was awarded “Second” position in the event “Awards for good practice” during the Antardhwani-2013 organized by the University of Delhi, Delhi.

The Department has a total strength of 18 teaching faculty out of which currently there are 7 Professors, 5 Associate Professor and 6 Assistant Professors. This includes 1 Professor in the Applied Psychology Unit at the South Delhi Campus. The teaching and research programme is supported by the technical staff at various levels. Apart from the Student Laboratory, meant for the practicum work for the students at the master’s level, we have a few research labs, equipped with necessary amenities. The Seminar Room is equipped with the State-of-the-Art facilities. Presently the best and latest technology gadgets have been procured and set up to enhance the teaching and research activities. One of the strengths of the teaching programme is to establish interface with Industries and Organizations working in varied domains as hospitals, NGOs, Corporate Sectors etc. The M.A. Psychology and Applied Psychology Courses include the latest trends in Psychology, with emphasis on practical training and field work. The courses lay special emphasis on the acquisition of knowledge and skills through theoretical understanding and its practical implications. The Department has already initiated the process of revising all the courses at the undergraduate and postgraduate level. In addition to lecturing as the primary mode of instruction, teaching is also interactive with due emphasis on seminar, presentations and discussions and experiential exercises and peer mentoring.

The Departmental teaching, research and field training are centered around contemporary issues such as stress and health, aging, drug abuse, community mental health, disability, neuropsychological assessment, and rehabilitation, etc. Many of our master's and Ph.D. students after completing their degrees are employed by different organizations/hospitals dealing with these issues.

From time to time, the Department organizes Conferences, Seminars, Refresher Course, Workshops, etc. for the benefit of faculty and students. It has hosted the Indian Science Congress Sessions thrice as well as an International Conference and various National Level Conferences. The Department has organized conferences on Cognitive Psychology, Quality of Life, Human Resource Development. Culture and Psychology, Health Psychology, Affect, Identity and Discourse, Puzzles of Perception and on Indian Psychology. In addition, many research projects have also been undertaken.

FACULTY OF EDUCATION

EDUCATION

Brief History

The Department of Education (CIE), University of Delhi is perhaps the first major institution of professional learning and research in Education that was established since independence. The first Prime Minister of India, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru and his first Education Minister, Maulana Abul Kalam Azad took considerable interest in its establishment in 1947 and activities and progress in those early years. Maulana Azad visualized the function of it not merely “to turn out teachers who will be ‘model teachers’, but to evolve into a research centre for solving new educational problems of the country”. Maulana prophesized that it would grow into “a beacon light for training institutions of the country”. Over these past decades, the Department has indeed grown into a pace-setting institution in Teacher Education and Educational Research. The department has demonstrated an unwavering dedication to the ideals of its founders and has participated in numerous important education commissions and committees

BIOPHYSICS

Major Activities and Achievements

The Department of Biophysics has well-established research labs supported by extramural grants from DBT, DST, ICMR, CSIR, UGC, and intramural grants from the University of Delhi. The department provides research opportunities in structural and computational biology. Dr. Manish Kumar's research group works on various translational research problems, focusing on microbial genome and proteome analysis using bioinformatics, chemoinformatics, and phylogenomics. His team examines virulence and antibiotic resistance mechanisms among microbes, predicts functional interactions in metabolic and signaling pathways, and identifies targets for diagnostics, vaccines, and therapeutics. They utilize molecular modeling and simulations for structure-based drug design and drug repurposing. Additionally, Kumar's lab employs Next Generation Sequencing to analyze antibiotic resistance genes in different reservoirs, creating a library for annotating metagenomic samples to develop point-of-care diagnostic tests for infections. The group collaborates closely with experimental scientists to generate translational outcomes from in-silico experiments. Prof. Manisha Goel's group works on structural bioinformatics, focusing on protein folding and the mechanism of Cas proteins in CRISPR. Dr. Hemlata Agnihotri works on cell signaling, receptor biology, and host-pathogen interactions. Dr. Sumit Kumar Chaturvedi explores protein conformational changes and ligand binding. Recently, Dr. Suman Tapryal joined as an Associate Professor, specializing in subunit vaccines, protein engineering, and applied biotechnology.

PLANT MOLECULAR BIOLOGY

Major Activities and Achievements

The period from April 1st, 2023, to March 31st, 2024, has been an exceptionally fruitful year for the Department of Plant Molecular Biology. During this period, the faculty has made significant strides in various research areas, including abiotic stress, epigenetics, biotic stress, light signaling, reproductive biology, calcium signaling, transcriptomics, and metabolomics involving plant models such as rice, wheat, tomato, chickpea, Arabidopsis, tobacco, soybean, among others. Their efforts have culminated in the publication of numerous research articles in high-ranking journals. Several faculty members received accolades from distinguished national academies, including the Indian National Science Academy (INSA) and the National Academy of Sciences, India (NASI), in recognition of their outstanding contributions to the field of plant science. Additionally, this year marked a notable achievement as Professor Saurabh Raghuvanshi hosted the 17th Annual International Biocuration Conference, the first of its kind to be organized in India. The department also successfully secured substantial funding from prestigious bodies including the Science and Engineering Research Board (SERB), Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR), Department of Biotechnology (DBT), and Institute of Eminence (IOE) for various research initiatives. On the infrastructural front, significant upgrades were made to the departmental office, seminar room, faculty room, and washrooms. Several greenhouses were transformed into advanced plant growth facilities equipped with LED PAR lights, several automated controls, and an efficient cooling system. Furthermore, in line with the increased M.Sc. student intake from 16 to 26, a new state-of-the-art, multipurpose, smart M.Sc. laboratory has also been developed.

FACULTY OF LAW

Brief History

The Faculty of Law at the University of Delhi stands as a venerable institution with a rich legacy in legal education. Established in 1924, it has consistently maintained its reputation as a national focal point for legal studies. Over the years, the department has been at the forefront, producing distinguished legal figures, including Supreme Court and High Court judges, prominent advocates, influential political leaders, policymakers, and individuals who have set trends across various domains. Despite its renowned alumni, the department maintains an egalitarian ethos, offering practically free legal education at a nominal cost.

The Faculty of Law has unparalleled expertise of its faculty members and a multicultural environment, adds to its allure. Currently catering to over 10,000 students, encompassing LL.B., LL.M., and Ph.D. programs, the Faculty operates within limited resources. While a comprehensive three-year LLB degree course is offered by the three centres operating within the fold of the Faculty (Law Centre–I, in 1970, followed by Law Centre – II in 1971 and Campus Law Centre in 1975), the LL.M. and Ph.D. programs are administered under the direct supervision of the Dean. Embracing the case method of teaching law, the department distinguishes itself by not relying on publishers' new editions. Instead, faculty members diligently revise case materials for LL.B. and LL.M. programs every semester, ensuring the most relevant and up-to-date content. Printed copies of these materials are then distributed to all students without profit.

Major Activities and Achievements

In addition to its commitment to accessible legal education, the Faculty of Law boasts a rich print library supplemented with e-resources. The faculty comprises individuals with diverse knowledge and experiences, with professors from other universities, including foreign institutions, visiting under various fellowship programs to engage in research within the institution. The department also actively fosters international collaborations, with delegations from foreign universities frequently visiting to share knowledge and enrich the learning experience for our students.

CAMPUS LAW CENTRE

The Campus Law Centre, known for its great achievements, has the distinction of being one of the oldest and most prestigious institutions, preserving its 100 years of rich heritage and legacy of producing profound lawyers, academicians, Union Cabinet Ministers, Chief Justices, and judges.

LAW CENTRE-II

Brief Introduction

In pursuit of fulfilling the ambition to establish educational institutions with a focus on legal studies, Law Centre II took its stepping stone with an establishment in the year 1971 at ARSD College, Dhaula Kuan. Later, the institution relocated from ARSD College to the Faculty of Law, main campus in the year 2016 and celebrates its 50-year history and golden jubilee. Reflecting on its momentous history with progressive transformation, the institution began by conducting LLB classes in the evenings. However, it has now transitioned to offering full-fledged morning classes, offering a curriculum of unparalleled breadth and a wide range of legal research interests that collectively reflect the remarkable range of the faculty's expertise and interests.

The Centre also connects alumni across generations and a variety of career paths, fostering a lifetime of rewarding friendships. The LC-II alumni network includes bureaucrats, police officers, military officials, teachers, chartered accountants, doctors, engineers, and other professionals.

The Centre had the privilege of being headed by the top law scholars of India, such as Prof. Upendra Baxi, a well-known jurist and former Vice-Chancellor of the University of Delhi; Prof. Tahir Mahmood, who subsequently became Chairperson, Minority Commission; Prof. A.K. Koul, who was exalted to the position of Vice-Chancellor, National Law University, Jodhpur and National Law University, Ranchi; Prof. Gurdip Singh, who became Vice-Chancellor, National Law University, Lucknow; Prof. Poonam Saxena, who served as Vice-Chancellor, National Law University, Jodhpur twice; Prof. V.K. Ahuja, who became Vice-Chancellor of NLUJ, Assam; and the present Director of the Indian Law Institute. The students get unparalleled opportunities to study law with such extraordinary colleagues in the Centre's rigorous and collaborative environment.

Major Activities and Achievements

The Law Centre II hosts a number of academic visitors and research students annually, and it continues to celebrate its Golden Jubilee by enhancing its academic and socio-legal initiatives. Students and faculty at the centre develop enduring and collaborative relationships with leading legal practitioners. The Centre established specialised academic societies, including the Constitutional Law Society, which engages faculty and students in exploring constitutional law issues. The Centre also founded the Judgement Understanding Society (JUS) to enhance members' legal knowledge by analysing significant judicial decisions.

In conjunction with these academic advancements, Law Centre II successfully completed the S.K. Puri Memorial International Moot Court Competition, entitled JUSTIFIED 2024. This event drew participants from various institutions, providing a platform for aspiring legal professionals to refine their advocacy skills and gain practical experience.

The Centre's active Legal Aid Committee exemplifies its commitment to community service. This committee organises legal aid camps and enables a substantial number of students to serve as Para Legal Volunteers (PLVs). Through these efforts, students gain hands-on experience in delivering legal assistance, contributing to social justice, and addressing the legal needs of underserved communities.

PHYSICS & ASTROPHYSICS

Major Activities and Achievements

The Department of Physics and Astrophysics has maintained its position as the topmost QS ranked university physics department in India. It is also one of the largest physics departments in the country, with nearly 780 MSc students and over 180 PhD students, in addition to the presently available 53 regular faculty members. It has sustained its high quality in research, which is evident from over 200 research publications (including books/chapters and conference proceedings) by only its regular faculty members, apart from those by its students, in international refereed journals during the year. Its faculty received several national and international grants and participated in several collaborative projects across the globe. It had also hosted various eminent researchers who gave inspiring lectures to motivate young students. The department's Master's curriculum provides a wide choice of electives, including inter-disciplinary subjects, to its students. The department, under a vibrant Ph.D. program, has offered a plethora of cutting-edge research topics as well, in recent times, making the above strategies much relevant for the Ph.D. course-work. Furthermore, an exclusive departmental portal <http://physics.du.ac.in>, displaying regular updates on its academic and other activities, has successfully run online during the year.

CENTRE FOR GENETIC MANIPULATION OF CROP PLANTS

Brief History of the Centre

Centre for Genetic Manipulation of Crop Plants (CGMCP) has been involved with the genetic improvement of oilseed mustard (Brassica juncea) through conventional and molecular breeding. Extensive work has been carried out on field breeding, application of microspore-derived doubled haploids (DH) in breeding, transgenic development, and application of molecular mapping and genome sequencing in marker-assisted breeding.

Major Activities and Achievements

The Centre led to the development of some CMS-based and GM-based productive hybrids, several pure lines with improved quality and white rust resistance lines and identification of some promising combiners for heterosis breeding. Three white rust-resistant lines developed by CGCMP have been notified by the Ministry of Agriculture and Farmers Welfare for cultivation and these lines were provided to ICAR and several seed companies for commercialization. A transgenic mustard hybrid DMH-11 was approved by the Government of India for environmental release.

INTERDISCIPLINARY CENTRE FOR PLANT GENOMICS

Brief History of the Centre

The Interdisciplinary Centre for Plant Genomics (ICPG) was established in 2005 to seek and impart knowledge on Genomics, to carry out frontline research in the area of Plant Genomics, to generate new ideas for the acceleration of the pace of progress in Plant Genomics, to apply knowledge gained from basic concepts in Structural and Functional Genomics for crop improvement, to train and enrich human resources in the area of Genomics and to provide a platform for interaction at an institutional and inter-institutional level among scientists specializing in biology, chemistry, computer science, engineering, mathematics, physics and allied sciences, to bring together the policymakers, civil society and researchers for interaction and need-based development of enabling technologies/information in Genomics and their application. The Centre is currently located on the 3rd floor of the Biotech Centre in the South Campus of the University.

Major Activities and Achievements

The ICPG members are involved in the discovery and characterization of genetic and bioinformatic resources involved in plant reproductive development and response to environmental stress conditions. It participated and contributed significantly to the global genome sequencing efforts on Rice, Tomato, and Wheat. An ICPG-PMB-led multi-institutional DBT-funded program on functional genomics of rice has revealed functions of several genes involved in floral transition, gametophyte development, and seed development. In plant reproduction, the group has identified and characterized a number of candidate genes that play key roles during panicle initiation, anther development and seed development. The work on a seed-specific MADS-box transcriptional regulator, OsMADS29, has revealed the interplay of regulatory mechanisms that play roles during developmental transitions. Grain chalkiness in rice is a negative agronomic trait associated with the rise in temperature during grain filling. The resultant grains are brittle and cause a significant loss of income for the farmers. Prof. Sanjay Kapoor's group has developed a genetic technology that significantly reduces chalkiness in rice grains and has filed a patent. Utilizing the leads from seed development and for the process of starch accumulation during grain filling in rice and other cereals, the group is involved in developing cell-line-based biofactories for starch production using cellular agriculture methodologies.

ICPG members are actively involved in discovering and characterizing genetic and bioinformatic resources related to plant reproductive development and responses to environmental stress. They have significantly contributed to global genome sequencing projects for Rice, Tomato, and Wheat. An ICPG-PMB-led program, funded by DBT, uncovered the functions of genes in rice's floral transition, gametophyte development, and seed development. Prof. Sanjay Kapoor's group focuses on elucidating molecular mechanisms regulating plant growth and stress responses. Their recent studies include the Ca²⁺-Calmodulin regulation of OsMADS29, a key transcription factor in rice seed development. The group also utilizes insights from seed development and starch accumulation to develop cell-line-based biofactories for starch production using cellular agriculture methods. They have explored the functional versatility of the multi-protein mediator complex in plant growth and examined the role of TRDMT1/DNMT2 in stress adaptation in Physcomitrium patens. Additionally, their meta-QTL analysis has identified haplotype combinations that mitigate grain chalkiness under high temperatures in rice. Prof. Saurabh Raghuvanshi's research group is pioneering the exploration of microRNA (miRNA) dynamics in rice, focusing on the regulatory mechanisms under stress conditions. Their recent study elucidates how tissue-specific responses modulate miR408 and its targets during drought stress, offering insights into plant stress adaptation. Another significant contribution by the group delves into the evolutionary aspects of the miRNA biogenesis machinery in plants, particularly rice, shedding light on the complexity and functionality of these small regulatory RNAs.

BHAGINI NIVEDITA COLLEGE

Brief History of the College

Bhagini Nivedita College (BNC), established in August 1993 as a constituent college of the University of Delhi, stands as a beacon of education in the rural outskirts of South West Delhi. Named after Sister Nivedita, a devoted disciple of Swami Vivekananda renowned for her dedication to women's education, the college began with B.A. (Pass) and B.A. (Hons.) Hindi courses, gradually expanding its offerings. BNC pioneered the introduction of the Apparel Design and Construction course in 1997, marking its commitment to innovative education.

Over the years, it evolved into an arts, commerce, and science college, introducing B.Sc. Physical Sciences in 2007 and embracing the semester system in 2010. The adoption of the Four Year Undergraduate Programme (FYUP) in 2013 brought additional disciplines, later phased out in 2015-16 as per UGC directives. Today, BNC offers a range of undergraduate programs, including B.A. and B.Sc. Honours courses, as well as a B.A. Programme and B.Com Programme, attracting a growing number of students annually. With a dedicated faculty of 76 members and robust support staff, BNC continues to uphold its reputation for academic excellence and holistic development, supported by state-of-the-art laboratories and infrastructure.

Library Development

The College library has a total of 77356 number of book and 410 New books were added during the year.

In October of 2023, the library held an orientation program to educate new users on how to effectively navigate and utilize the library's collections and services. Additionally, the library provided internship opportunities to six students from DUSOL and IGNOU, fostering practical learning experiences. Regular motivational talks were also conducted to assist students and faculty in maximizing the use of library resources and services.

The library saw a diverse range of visitors from various fields, including arts, humanities, science, and non-teaching staff. Increased usage of online resources and the library's website (<http://gargiccollege.saraswatilib.com/>) allowed for improved accessibility and understanding of e-resources. Significant consultation and borrowing of library materials occurred, with approximately 190,900 books consulted and loaned by users during the year. The library also organized various events such as book exhibitions on themes like Freedom Fighters and Yoga, enhancing user engagement and awareness. Collaborative efforts with AVNI for book donation drive and participation in events like Hindi Bhasha Diwas and International Yoga Day promoted community involvement and awareness. Utilization of electronic resource management packages enhanced control and access to a vast range of electronic resources through platforms like UGC-NList and NDLI. Lastly, the library continued its efforts to expand membership and access to library services, targeting postgraduate students and teachers through various library systems like Ratan Tata Library, Central Science Library, and others.

Extension and Outreach Activities

Enactus Hansraj works on social entrepreneurship to carve a more sustainable world for us all. In 2023, the team reached the Top 16 stage in the Nationals hosted by Enactus India. Continuing this feat, the team secured 1st position in several B-Plan competitions hosted at renowned educational institutes such as Lady Shri Ram College and Miranda House College. Through its 3 running projects – Mehr, Ahsaas, and Vriddhi, the society has positively impacted thousands of lives in the past year. Project Mehr through continuous efforts has trained 25+ transgenders and received positive responses for its products at several exhibitions and stalls. Project Ahsaas is working on providing skill training to differently-abled people and establishing a job portal for the trainees. Under its vertical Armaan, it is planning on expanding its counseling sessions by providing a ‘Mental Health Kit’. Project Vriddhi is on its way to the completion of its 14th washroom based on stubble boards, at over 6 locations in the Delhi NCR region for the underdeveloped community, resolving the problem of open defecation and improve sanitation. In National Service Scheme, in the year 2023-24, our focus was awareness and outreach activities at the adopted villages. Sessions on organ donation, street plays and cleanliness drives under ‘Swachhata Hi Seva’ campaign showcased our commitment. Swachhata Campaign 3.0 focused on successful cleanliness campaigns. AIDS awareness sessions were conducted by eminent physicians. Initiatives for Padhaku kids under ‘Project Buniyad’ included Unmasking Emotions, mental well-being workshop, Doctor’s Day awareness session, water conservation poster competition, menstrual awareness and a self-defense workshop. The flagship event ‘NSS Mela - ADYATAN’, captivated audiences with traditional dances and a culinary journey. Educational initiatives included sessions in schools and a candle-making workshop for women. Under the “Health and Environment” wing, we have organized a blood donation camp, and plantation drive, around the theme ‘Beat Plastic Pollution’.

Extension and Outreach Activities

The Social Responsibility Cell of Kalindi College serves as a beacon of social change and empowerment. Committed to the social empowerment of underprivileged communities, the Social Responsibility Cell endeavours to uplift marginalized sections of society through various initiatives and projects. Under the umbrella of SRC, Enactus, a social entrepreneurship society, and CDF, a society advocating for social change, collaborate synergistically, leveraging their respective strengths to drive impactful initiatives that bring about positive social change. Together, they embody the spirit of social responsibility and serve as catalysts for transformation.

Enactus Kalindi: Established in 2017 under Social Responsibility Cell, Enactus Kalindi is dedicated to addressing pressing social issues that undermine the fabric of our nation, with a primary focus on uplifting marginalized communities through means of innovative business ideas. Enactus Kalindi currently runs 3 projects- Project Rehmat, aimed to empower manual scavengers and eradicate the inhumane practice of manual scavenging from our country; Project Weran, aimed to address the issue of agricultural waste, particularly in the form of discarded fruits and vegetables; and Project Rahee, focused on the textile waste crisis brought about by fast fashion, which results in millions of tonnes of textile waste accumulating each year. In session 2023-2024, we continued our work of making social change through various activities and events:

Project Rehmat: We introduced Shama, a line of eco-friendly candles made from soy wax, offering a sustainable alternative to traditional petroleum-based candles and are available in various scents. We also undertook product improvement and innovation in our soap production, utilizing the melt and pour method to introduce new flavours such as neem, coffee, and marigold, expanding our reach and impact.

Project Weran: Building upon our commitment to reducing agricultural waste, we introduced orange candies and banana chips. These are preservative and additive-free, offering consumers a healthier snack option while simultaneously addressing the issue of food waste.

Project Rahee: We have introduced sling bags made from repurposed textile waste to our pre-existing line of Punah products which include scrunchies, tote bags and pouches. These stylish and eco-friendly bags not only provide a solution to the problem of waste but also promote conscious consumerism. Furthermore, we conducted upskilling training sessions in tailoring for the partner community of wives of rickshaw pullers under Project Rahee, empowering them with valuable skills and opportunities for economic independence.

In addition to our project initiatives, we organized the maiden fest of Enactus Kalindi, Udyamita on February 29 and March 1. It featured a diverse range of events aimed at promoting sustainability and social entrepreneurship. From case study competitions to a fashion show highlighting sustainable fashion, our fest provided a platform for dialogue, innovation, and inspiration.

Connecting Dreams Foundation: CDF Kalindi, a dedicated society advocating for social change, has been actively involved in various social causes over the years. Anchored by the ethos of vocalizing for change, our projects, Kilkari, aiming to combat alarming dropout rates; Inayaṭ, a multifaceted initiative aimed at empowering women and addressing hunger; and Project Inara, focusing on prioritizing mental well-being, try to bring about meaningful impact in the lives of underprivileged communities.

Project Kilkari: Collaborating with Scope for Change, an NGO, offline classes were initiated on Saturdays and Sundays. The curriculum aimed to provide educational enrichment to underprivileged children. Collaboration with MyMenia Foundation further expanded our reach. Additionally, the session saw the successful execution of our annual socio-cultural fest "Meraki 24," conducted in collaboration with Ritva Kalindi, enriching our engagement with the community. Ekagra IAS Seminars were organized, offering insights and guidance to aspiring civil service candidates.

Project Inayaṭ: A field visit to Katthputli Colony facilitated understanding of the challenges faced by underprivileged women. Subsequently, a mass food donation drive was organized for underprivileged children, complemented by a one-week cloth donation drive. The donated clothes were repurposed into tote bags by women of Father House NGO, providing them with employment opportunities. A food donation drive during Holi celebrations further exemplified our commitment to addressing hunger and fostering community engagement.

Project Inara: Project Inara, focuses on prioritizing mental well-being and creating supportive spaces. An online interactive session on "Mental Health Issues" was conducted with Dr. Vibhuti Mehta, assistant professor of psychology at Gargi College. This session aligned with Inara's mission to destigmatize mental health problems and encourage seeking professional help when needed.

As we reflect on the accomplishments of the 2023-2024 session, the Social Responsibility Cell remains steadfast in its commitment to social change and community empowerment. Through collaborative efforts and innovative initiatives, we are committed to create a more inclusive and equitable society.

Extension and Outreach Activities

Several events were conducted during the months from January to March 2023 to raise awareness about societal issues like voting, mental health and bullying among others and these include:

To mark the occasion of National Voter's Day, a pledge ceremony was organised which focused on creating awareness about the importance of voting and making the right choice. An interactive session was also organized which gave students a discussion table for sharing their views and arguments regarding the voting rules and regulations. Volunteers vocalized the need for voting and its power to change the future during the walkathon event. In continuation of the zeal of the voting vigilance challenge, a quiz competition was arranged, based on history, right to vote, the conduct of elections, etc. During the demonstration for casting a vote, students and teachers learned how to cast a vote using EVM and VVPT which will not only secure their votes but also allow them to verify their vote.

Mental health awareness sessions underscore the significance of mental well-being and bunking the stigma around mental health. Gamezone witnessed how games can foster togetherness and positive emotions daily.

Campus Cleanliness Drive: The cleanliness drive helped in maintaining cleanliness and hygiene in the college campus for an overall well-being.

Various Web 2.0 facilities like tagging, comment, social sharing and RSS feeds

Union catalog facility

Customizable search

Online circulation

Bar code printing

Patron card creation

Report generation

Patron self-registration form through OPAC

All the library staff were well equipped with KOHA by providing the hands-on training sessions.

Circulation information (books issued and returned by the users) is sent to each user of the library on their respective email-id. Around 1000 books were well catalogued with their subject headings in the KOHA software. Library every year organizes orientation programme for students. Extension and Outreach Activities

Through various initiatives and projects, the college NSS and NCC units encourage students to actively participate in community development and outreach activities, such as promoting literacy, environmental conservation, health awareness, and rural development. Students gain not only practical skills but also a deeper understanding of social issues and the importance of active citizenship.

NSS unit: Through experiential learning and reflection, NSS fosters a lifelong commitment to social change and community service among India's youth, thereby contributing to the country's progress and development. The NSS team at MAC is divided into several different units. These are as follows:

Agrani: Since its inception, Agrani has organised several events, online and offline, to promote gender equality by celebrating women's day through talks, social media campaigns, and seminars.

Samarthaya: Moving towards the goal of Global Equality, Samarthaya- the equal opportunity cell works towards the promotion of fairness and giving equal access and opportunities to all castes, creeds and to people of different abilities. The team has made arrangements for wheelchairs in campus, celebrated days of importance like Zero Discrimination Day, Youth Day and organised several events to help others and raise awareness.

Project ABHI and Nistholi: The MAC-NSS unit has adopted Baroji village in the Mewat district of the state of Haryana and Nistholi village in Ghaziabad District of Uttar Pradesh. The Agrasen Baroji Help Initiative helps in the development of these villages by organising plantation drives and raising awareness on social issues like education, equality, and government policies.

Pedal Power: MAC-NSS has a very active bicycle club known as Pedal Power. This club works for the promotion of health and a healthy lifestyle for all. The College has purchased around 40 bicycles for the said purpose.

Organising regular cleanliness drives, promoting segregation of waste, collection of plastic and tetra pack containers are a small part of the big initiative and responsibility taken up by the unit. This team works for raising awareness in preserving ecological balance. A one-hour Swachhta (cleanliness) drive near the college community was organised which proved to be helpful in aiding a pristine environment. Students actively cleaned and beautified areas, fostering a sense of civic responsibility. MAC NSS saw the culmination of a successful Cleanliness Drive in collaboration with G न Environmental Club on 1st October 2023, in honor of Mahatma Gandhi's birth anniversary.

Project Akshar: Under this project, volunteers provide quality education to the children from underprivileged sections of the society. Over 100 students from nearby colonies like Dallupura and Kondli are enrolled in the project and daily classes from Monday to Friday for two hours are held in the college premises. The team also holds regular parent teacher meetings. Furthermore, under this unit, all round development of the students is undertaken, like organising self-defence workshops, cleanliness seminars, events on promotion of equality, life and mental health, celebration of days like Children's Day, Annual Day, and organisation of health checkups. This is a self-funded project and raises money via Diwali mela and stalls for its daily expenses.

Aarogya: Aarogya is committed to instilling the values of sanitation and holistic well-being, and in the interconnectedness of physical and mental health, recognizing that a clean environment and a positive mindset are essential for a fulfilling life. Through health camps, blood donation drives, and 'Swacchta Abhiyans' organised in NSS, we actively engage with communities to improve hygiene standards and foster a culture of wellness.
