DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES University of Delhi, North Campus

ADVERTISEMENT

Applications are invited for filling up one vacancy for the post of Junior Research Fellow (JRF) in a research project entitled "A multi-omics approach to understanding the impact of climate change on heart failure using Caenorhabditis elegans as an animal model" sanctioned by Department of Health Research, Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, Government of India The position is purely temporary in nature and co-terminus with the project.

Salary: Rs 31000/- per month + HRA as per rules.

Essential Qualifications: M.Sc. in any branch of life sciences with at least 55% marks and candidate must be NET/GATE Qualified, or must have Qualified any other equivalent national level examination.

Desirable: Prior experience in Bioinformatics and hands on experience in molecular biology techniques.

Duration: One year and extendable up till the project tenure on the performance, assessment and availability of grant.

Completed applications on plain paper along with biodata, copies of marksheets, relevant certificates and two letters of recommendation should reach the undersigned by three weeks from the date of advertisement either through email-dhrproject23@gmail.com or through registered post. Please write "Application for JRF position" on the envelop. Candidates meeting the required criteria will be called for an interview but no TA/DA will be paid. The shortlisted candidates will be informed for the interview through e-mail only.

Note: All the guidelines of Delhi University regarding project appointment will be strictly followed.

Dr. Ashwini Kumar Ray (Project Investigator) Assistant Professor Department of Environmental Studies University of Delhi New Delhi-110007